

The FCC should not implement any proposal that is less stringent than the Indiana law. How Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has improved our time at home. We were getting about 10 calls per month usually at dinner time. I felt this was an invasion of my privacy since I had no way to weed these calls from my personal calls. I now receive less than 1 unwanted call per month.